Sorry [REDACTED] it was shared separately -- here it is again.

Can you please share the reports ahead of time?

The spec I wrote at the start of this did include EB in some configurations, and I believe some of the [REDACTED]st URLs did include it, but not sure where they ended for the test. I agree we should walk through both reports ([REDACTED] I'm most worried about AdX server-side latency showing up on its own. Agree a meeting to regroup on this would be good - an hour this week?

I think it would be useful for us to meet and to through this report because I'm not sure it is all positive for us (will set something up). [REDACTED] do you know if one of these configurations is Exchange Bidding? If not, why did we test without it?

+ [REDACTED] would be the ones to look at the report.

Could someone forward the report to us? It wasn't included on [REDACTED] reply that brought me and [REDACTED] into the conversation.

[REDACTED] was there an Exchange Bidding set up in the test? Any thoughts on why the caching case was longer in some cases than without caching? + [REDACTED] worth reviewing closely.

Hi [REDACTED]

Yes we are on track to deliver the report before the end of this week.

The team is working on the report.

Thanks,
